

100nka (read: stonka)

Sounds of 100nka, established in 2004, should put into vibration organisms of even the toughest jazz conservatives. Przemek's drums, Adam's bass and Tom's guitar work together as if they played jazz even in elementary school. And all these years, inseparably and without conflict between men and women, still functioning as once a legendary television program duo "Probe" Kurek-Kaminski. The old guard can sleep peacefully and go into retirement.

Percussion acrobatics, confident, deep bass sound, the search of unobvious sounds outside the traditional harmonic scales by playing a bow, a smooth transition from the sonic experimentation with effects to electric melody. Incredible technical skills of head open to the influence of improvised music around the world, while attempting to give the music its own individual character. All of that you can hear both, on band's four previous albums, where the musicians contributed with Mikolaj Trzaska, Antoni Gralak and Herb Robertson, as well as at the gigs, where 100nka is able to effectively perform complex arrangements, and also completely indulge in the energetic, open free music.

More info: <http://100nka.pl/#en>